

ALL CARROTS. NO STICKS.

LAEDC gets Ready Pac out of the jam for perfect delivery

Synopsis : Ready Pac Produce, located in Irwindale, is a market leader in the supply of fresh-cut produce to retail grocery chains, mass-merchandisers and foodservice organizations throughout North America, with five million pounds of fresh-cut salad mixes and other produce packaged and shipped every week.

The Challenge : Ready Pac encountered local traffic issues and difficulties attaining proper permits in a timely fashion. With production of fresh produce as Ready Pac's sole business, and a nationwide market awaiting the delivery of that fresh produce in its prime, these logistic issues needed to be addressed rapidly.

Actions and Resolutions : LAEDC leveraged its influence with Los Angeles County authorities to expedite the issuance of relevant permits for fruit production as well as the provision of major traffic assistance.

Economic Impact : 1,800 jobs and $437 million in sales.

“ That’s why we appreciate extra effort given by the LAEDC to Ready Pac to resolve our issues with absent traffic signal and extra permit requirement so promptly and effectively. ”
- Santiago Pacheco, Plant Manager
